Now living in the UK, I often find myself missing the unique flavors of Hungarian desserts that filled my home growing up. I've carried that love of traditional Hungarian sweets with me, and it's become the heart of my home bakery. While Hungarian recipes are dear to me, I also find joy in exploring and recreating traditional desserts from around the world, bringing a taste of global sweetness to my kitchen. Cakes are my specialty, and I relish the creativity that goes into crafting each recipe to perfection. Baking allows me to express my passion, and I'm delighted to share these flavours with others.",
